

Paving timbers

Ideal for balancing

Whether at playgrounds, kindergartens, or retreats and retreat facilities, sensory footpaths are popular design elements for outside areas. There is a good reason for this -- they have something to offer for both children and adults. In planning and designing your facility, you can emphasize playful accents or "wellness" and health aspects. Sensory footpaths require planning that is both comprehensive and highly tailored to the specific project. Our experts will give you competent and individual advice.
